Favors Gradual Retirement of Legal Ter ders, Modification of the Bank Note System and the Reduction of the Public Debt—Address to the Bankers. MILWAUREE, Oct. 16 .- Secretary Lyman

Gage's address before the convention the feature of to-day's session. Mr. Gage was accompanied by ex-Comptroller Eckels, who will speak to-morrow. Mr. Gage spoke on his ideas as to financial changes. He

"Taking the last thirty years, what sum, on the average, in excess of an ample working balance has the Treasury kept under lock and key and away from all current use in the fields of industry and exchange? The amount is found to average fifty millions of dollars. If these surplus millions had been deposited with national banks in the Clearing House cities in the proportion the relative capital of each bank bears to the whole capital and if, secondly, the only security to the Government had been, in case of bank failures, a prior lien on such bank's assets, not a dollar of loss would the Treasury have suffered.

failures, a prior lien on such bank's assets, not a dollar of loss would the Treasury have suffered.

"Next, if under these conditions the banks had paid interest to the Government at the rate of 2 per centum upon the funds so deposited, how much would the Treasury have been benefited? Answer: Thirty-two millions of dollars. With this fund as an aid to their general operations in the field of trade and commerce, to what extent, on the average, would the banks have been able to increase credit accommodations to the people? Answer: Two hundred millions of dollars. Have we not been guilty of an enormous economic waste by reason of of dollars. Have we not been guilty of an enormous economic waste by reason of our peculiar Treasury system?

"I could pursue into detail the faults with which our financial system may be justly charged. But the matter has been presented over and over until the theme is badly worn. Permit me, however, to summarize into several brief propositions an expression of my own financial convictions.

an expression of my own financial convictions.

*First: I believe it to be most desirable that the demand liabilities of the Government known as legal-tender notes should be put in the way of retirement and cancellation.

*Second: I believe that this can be accomplished without any burden of interest cost to the public treasury.

*Third: I believe that our system of bank note circulation can be and ought to be so modified as to make it more responsive to commercial and industrial requirements, without any increase of risk to the bill holder.

*Fourth: I believe that beyond acting as a guardian and a trustee for the people in relation to national banks, the Government's guaranty to bank note issues should cease.

"Fifth: I believe that the public moneys in excess of a reasonable working balance for daily use should be deposited in National banks. That a simple and safe system of distribution of funds can be devised I have no doubt.

"Sixth: I believe that in periods of national banks."

"Sixth: I believe that in periods of national peace and prosperity the public revenue should be somewhat in excess of public expenditure, and that the surplus revenue should be applied to the reduction of the public debt.

"I want to close my talk by presenting some facts in comparison which will at least illustrate the strong and satisfactory condition of the national finances While British consols drawing 2½ per cent. per annum are quoted at 92, German Imperial 3 per cent. bonds at 88½, Russian 4s at 102, and French 3s at 102, United States 2 per cent. bonds are quoted at 107, and 2 per cent. bonds are quoted at 107, and United States 4 per cent. bonds of 1925,

"It may throw some light upon this comparison so favorable to us if I particularize a little. On April 1, 1898, the interest bearing public debt stood at $847,366,680. Deducting from this the cash then on hand in the Treasury amounting to $226,166,944, leaves $621,199,730. Incidental to the war with Spain, bonds were issued to page. with Spain, bonds were issued to nearly two hundred millions, so that on Nov. 1, 1899, the interest bearing debt had risen to $1,038,049,020, or deducting cash in the Treasury amounting to $289,391,540, the debt, less cash, stood at $756,657,480, an increase of $135,457,744, between April 1, 1898, and Nov 1, 1898.

and Nov. 1, 1896.

"On Aug. 1, 1901, the interest bearing debt stood at $985,476,000; less cash in the Treasury, $327,368,877; making debt, less cash, $638,107,183, a reduction of $98,559,297; or having now no regard for the increased cash in the Treasury, we find that the face amount of the interest-bearing debt, which stood on Nov. 1, 1899, at $1,046,049,020, now stands (Aug. 1) at $985,476,000, a reduction of $60,572,900.

"But this is only a partial statement. Concurrently with this reduction of the face of the debt, there has been a reducface of the debt, there has been a reduc-tion almost equally great in the amount of interest which then burdened the future. of the moneys coming into the Treasury during the short period under review, $43,582,005 has been used to settle and discharge interest which would otherwise have been a charge upon the Treasury during the next four to eight years. By the use of something more than forty-three millions, interest to the amount of $54,548,424 was settled—the difference of pearly eleven millions being a nominal

CHEMICAL FACTORY BURNED. A $200,000 Fire at Shadyside, N. J. -Valu-

The main building of the Bulls Ferry Chemical Company at Shadyside, N. J., took fire through a defective furnace flue yesterday morning and was burned to the ground. The blaze was discovered before it had gained much headway and the fire apparatus of the works was quickly brought into operation. An alarm brought the Eclipse Hose of North Bergen and a line of hose was stretched from the General Chemical Company, a block away. There was an abundance of fire apparatus on the scene, but poor pressure of the water supply greatly hindered the firemen. The combustible nature of the materials used in the works caused the flames to gain headway with great rapidity.

The fire spread to two other frame buildings and all were completely destroyed. The office building and engine house were saved. vesterday morning and was burned to the

SWIFT JERSEY JUSTICE.

Exceptional Features in the Case of Rizzelo

James Rizzelo, 17 years old, who was tried in Newark on Tuesday and yesterday stone, was found guilty of manslaughter yesterday in the Court of Oyer and Terminer at Newark. The jury added to the verdict a recommendation for mercy, and Justice Gummere at once imposed a sentence of two years and six months in State marked by two exceptional features. The prisoner was the first person charged with murder in New Jersey who has been admitted to ball; the second exception was the imposing of a sentence to State Prison instead of a remand to jail, which is the usual course. It was one of the quickest trials and convictions for manslaughter

ARREST FOR DISTANT MURDER

RUSSIAN NOBLEMAN KILLED IN ARGENTINA-CAPTURE HERE.

Never Was in South America—He Bears the Name of the Alleged Murderer, but Description Isn't a Fit

Central Office detectives have locked up in Police Headquarters a cabinetmaker wanted in the Argentine Republic for the murder of a Russian nobleman. Hattos was arraigned in the Jefferson Market police court yesterday morning, and re-manded to Police Headquarters as a suspicious person. He denied all knowledge of the murder and said that he had never been in South America. He came here recently from Hungary, he says. Accordwho arrested Hattos, his mother is in Argentina and he has been receiving letters here in New York from her. It is true, they say, that he has come here from Hunand he went to Hungary from there after the murder. It occurred nearly a year and a half ago.

Ernest Medem disappeared from his home in La Plata. He had been well known n the capital cities of Europe, for he was a Russian nobleman and a spendthrift. His relatives sent him to South America to reform. They purchased for him a stock farm to give him something to do. Among Medem's acquaintances in Argentina was a man named Hattoe. He was seen drinking with Medem on the day that Medem disappeared and when Medem's friends started o look for Hattos they found that he too had vanished. They also learned that a few days before the disappearance Medem received $2,000 from his relatives in Russia. None of this money was found in his home, so the authorities came to the conclusion that he had been robbed and murdered.

so the authorities came to the conclusion that he had been robbed and murdered. Upon further investigation a newly made grave was found in the rear of Medem's home. Several feet of earth were removed from the grave and then Medem's body was found. The corpse was attired in a night robe and it was evident that the man had been murdered in his sleep. Further inquiries developed that Medem and Hattos had quarrelled a few days previously because Medem tired of supporting Hattos.

Then the search for Hattos started and it was at this point that the New York detectives were brought into the case. Recently the authorities of the Argentine Republic learned that letters addressed to A. Hattos were forwarded by hattos's mother to an address in this city. When the New York detectives got to the New York address this Hattos had disappeared. They were told that he had gone to Cleveland. They communicated with the Cleveland. They communicated with the Cleveland police and learned that A. Hattos had left Cleveland for New York. When he reached town on Monday night he went to the home of a relative in East Sixteenth street. There he was arrested on Monday night. The Argentine Consul in this city was notified and he is having the necessary extradition papers sent on from South America.

The Consul furnished to the police a

The Consul furnished to the police a description of the Hattos wanted in South America, together with a pen-and-ink sketch of the man, but in many ways this description of the alleged murderer does not fit the Hattos under arrest at Police Headquarters. New Haven Given Up.

New Haven, Oct. 16.—President Hadley of Yale and other officials of the university, after a conference with the city officials this afternoon, decided that there would be no public reception to President Roosevelt when he comes to the Yale Bicentennial on next Wednesday. Up to to-day it was the hope of the students and Yale professors, as well as the people of the town, that President Roosevelt would be recommended to the officials for the committee that it shoolboys and the scule would be secured to decide the knotty points. After some discussion it was decided to bar schoolboys and athletic directors from officiating and to secure college men shoolboys and athletic directors from officiating as in former years, and that college men shoolboys and athletic directors from officiating and to secure college men for referee and umpire. The series will be decided at University oval, Morris Heights, and five schools will battle for the honors. Owing to the expense of hiring the grounds the schedule was not arranged in the round-robin series, but will be played in two sections. The official series was not at the championship games. It was pointed for the championship games. town, that President Roosevelt would remain in New Haven long enough for a reception to him. To-day definite word was received from Washington that President Roosevelt could stop in New Haven only a few hours, and hardly long enough to plan for a public reception, and President Hadley and the city officials decided to abandon all plans for the Presidential

Harvey Parker Defeats Two Men in Shor

The wrestling at Miner's Bowery Theatre last night was very interesting and Harvey Parker, the "Yankee Wonder," who is meeting all comers there this week, showed Parker's defi to throw any man inside of fifteen minutes or forfeit $25 was accepted by Gus Dumont of Baltimore. Dumont has quite a reputation as a strong man, in the first two minutes of his bout last night he demonstrated that he knows a little about the art of wrestling. Dumont weighed about 158 pounds and stripped The conditions were catch-as-catchinitiative, but Parker was too quick for him and held him at bay with some clever

These tactics were indulged in for about a minute. Then Dumont caught Parker around the neck and by sheer strength gradually brought Parker to the mat. Once down Dumont went to work with a vim. He tried every ruse to secure a hammer lock, but Parker was as slippery as a greased cel and got away safely. Dumont was discouraged over his failure to get a firm grasp and gave way to Parker. Harvey soon showed that he knew more than his rival by deftly locking both hands together around. Dumont's stomach. He pressed with all his might and, after weakening the Baltimore man, he secured a half Nelson. Dumont in order to save himself turned quickly on his back and formed a bridge. BOWLING.

The Wholesale Drug Trade Bowling Association chemical houses, which has been in existence for a and in its stead another organization was formed under the same name, to which any individual in terested or employed in the trade is eligible to mem bership. Before dissolving the old organization the membership list for this season's tournament was completed. Of last season's competing teams all but one will again participate. They are as follows: Dodge & Alcott, Seabury & Johnson, Johnson & Johnson, Parke, Davis & Co., Colgate Johnson & Johnson. Parke, Davis & Co., Coigate & Co., General Chemical Company, National Lead Company, Lanman & Kemp and Church & Dwight Company. The resignation of the Merck & Co. employees was read and accepted. Three applications were received. Those of Powers & Weightman and Roessier & Hasslacher were accepted, but the application of Ricketts & Banks was rejected by a vote of 6 to 5, on the ground that the house was not eligible, being only professionally engaged in the trade and not tradesmen. Harry O. Barnes, chairman of the Bowling Committee, reported that Reid's alleys had been engaged for the season, beginning next Saturday afternoon. The new organization was then formed and forty-eight members enrolled. Charter members can be added to the list until Nov. 1. The election of officers resuited as follows. President, H. F. Haker, General Chemical Company: Vice President, Harry O. Barnes, Coigate & Co., Scaretary, Charles E. Meek, National Lead Company: Treasurer, William J. Carr, Parke, Davis & Co., statistician, Lester Stevens, Johnson & Johnson, John Ruddiman, Dodge & Oleccit. Dr. Lovis, Seabury & Johnson. With the exception of a few changes, the constitution and by laws presented by the committee was adopted and the following teams acheduled for the opening series. Seabury & Johnson. Roessier & Hasslacher and Johnson & Johnson. Roessier & Hasslacher and Johnson & Johnson. Church & Dwight Company, Lanman & Kemp and Colgate & Co.
